Subject: Microsoft Settlement

Microsoft has done more harm to consumers then any company before. It has stymied research and development other then it's own products. It has killed competition through illegal business practices. It has been branded an illegal monopoly. Their business practices are deplorable. They do all they can to prevent consumers having any other choice then Microsoft.

These practices should not be rewarded but come to a harsh end. People living in a so called free country should have real choices and not have to be faced with a modern variant of Hobson's choice.

They are an illegal monopoly with unethical business views, they should be punished, not rewarded.

Sincerely,

N Heikamp
